Combine MASCOT's super material with a revolutionary design at the knee, and you have the work trousers of the future - right now. You can remove and reinsert the kneepads while wearing the trousers. They are easily inserted from the side - not from the top or bottom. Ventilation to the knee via a zip in the side gives a high level of breathability and increases comfort in kneeling work situations. The slim fit and stretch properties means there is no excess fabric at the back of the knee when you kneel. MASCOT® ADVANCED means optimum freedom of movement – when you walk, stand and kneel.

All the best clothing for the work day

In the MASCOT® SAFE range, you'll find safety clothing for both men and women. Choose between three fluorescent basic colours and multiple different product types. From head to toe and inside to out.

Carefully choose the safety class

It is the requirement for visibility - and thus the requirement for the area of reflectors and fluorescent material – that determines which class you should choose. The highest class is class 3. At MASCOT there are two ways to attain class 3: either choose an EN ISO 20471 product that is rated class 3 on its own, e.g., a jacket, or choose two products that, when worn together, are class 3 certified.

When your workwear has to last

Workwear with extra details to increase durability, is a good investment in the long run. Choose products with durable CORDURA® or/and dirt-repellent Teflon®. Both extend the total lifespan of the products.

Cotton on the inside

A special detail with these products is that the fabric is woven so that the polyester is primarily on the outside, for both wear resistance and colour fastness, and the cotton is on the inside, for comfort. Cotton is soft, moisture absorbing and comfortable against the skin.

We are passionate about being TESTED TO WORK. It is our slogan and our way of working. We will deliver thoroughly tested quality to our customers.

Being TESTED TO WORK is a commitment

MASCOT applies TESTED TO WORK to every single work process. It's not just the products that are thoroughly tested and quality assured. We only launch order platforms and collaboration agreements that have also been thoroughly tried and tested.

TESTED TO WORK is a goal and an obligation. It is our brand's guarantee to our customers. TESTED TO WORK gives our partners peace of mind that they're getting the highest quality every time. You are welcome to demand the very highest standards from us.

SA8000

SOCIALLY
PRODUCTION

MASCOT is an ethically, socially and environmentally responsible company

As a global textiles company, we have an enormous responsibility to safeguard the people and the environment at our production sites and throughout the rest of our supply chain. This is a responsibility that we take very seriously. Is it for this reason that, more than ten years ago, we established our very own production sites in Vietnam and later in Laos, where we can ensure good, respectful and safe workplaces for our 2400 colleagues.

Here at MASCOT, we have always placed focus on ensuring that our customers get the best possible products. And by that we mean the best possible products in all aspects. It's not just about producing extremely durable products that last for a long time and thereby reduce the unnecessary consumption of new resources. The products also need to be manufactured by people who feel secure and comfortable at their workplace, and from materials that are transparent in their origins and which are able to attain the likes of Oeko-Tex® certification, etc.

MASCOT's products are solutions. And they are solutions that last! Both in terms of their wear resistance and with regards to their respect for people and the environment. Our core values are quality and decency – even in social and environmental contexts. Quality in products, solutions and agreements and decency understood as both conscientiousness and moral decency.

The United Nations' sustainability goals give the world - and consumers - a shared lens through which to view sustainable production. See how a number of focus areas have already been incorporated in MASCOT's production of workwear on page 126-127.

Sustainable production

»The production of workwear leaves a global mark. But it is possible to make conscious and sustainable choices. Here at MASCOT, we take responsibility for both people and the environment when producing our workwear.«

MASCOT strives to create sustainable solutions throughout the entire production chain. As a global textiles company, we have an enormous responsibility to safeguard the people and the environment at our production sites and throughout the rest of our supply chain. This is a responsibility that we take very seriously.

The Global Sustainable Development Goals are also MASCOT's goals

A modern company is expected to work continuously on becoming a sustainable company – a company which balances its environmental, social and financial bottom line in order to contribute to a more sustainable future for both current and future generations.

MASCOT takes its responsibility for the environment and people seriously

Here at MASCOT, we take great pride in doing our part, but we also remain humble in our approach towards these goals. There are many stages involved when it comes to making a sustainable difference. The 17 Global Sustainable Development Goals are a solid lens through which to view the journey towards a higher level of sustainability. We constantly strive to influence, adjust and develop towards a sustainable future, wherever we can.

Individual product customisation — more than a standard assortment at your disposal

Do you have a large company with individual needs that aren't covered by MASCOT's standard assortment? Then you have the possibility for a customised MASCOT solution for your employees. You might need special sizes, an extra pocket for certain tools, or another fabric or colour. Or maybe you need one or more new product types or styles. Everything is possible, and our experts are at your disposal, so together, we will find the solution that suits you best.

At MASCOT, we categorise the many types of individual product customisations in terms of how extensive the changes are. For certain special order products, we have a minimum number of products you need to order, and the delivery time is of course also longer than with our standard assortment. This is agreed individually from order to order.

Do you need special orders or other individual customisations? Call your contact from MASCOT or your distributor. He/she can help you get just the workwear to match your needs.
